Foreword

Our active participation in attaining these worthy goals is demanded if we are to gain full benefit from the experiences through which they are realized. The framework of experiences for our academic and social development has been carefully constructed. It remains for us to build on that framework so that our lives reflect growth toward the purposes to which Fairview aspires. The school has provided multitudes of opportunities for us to build according to our own talents and interests. Whether we are in a classroom or at a party, in the library or in the hall, in an office or at a game, we are growing "...Toward Healthful, Broadminded, Service-seeking Adult Life." This Volume of the Tower of Memories presents the story of 1500 people and their growth toward these goals.

" . . . Healthful . . . "

Proper exercise, good nutrition, willing cooperation, sportsmanship, respect, the ability to live happily, successfully and peacefully with all men, and an optimistic outlook on life are inherent qualities of a healthy body and mind. At Fairview many opportunities are afforded us to grow toward healthful adult life.

". Broadminded."

To understand the world around us, to learn the meaning of life, to become acquainted with the crafts and customs of the peoples of the earth, to learn and be tolerant of the ideas and beliefs which differ from our own, to perceive the misfortune of others caused by the narrowness of some and to do something to alleviate some of the suffering - these are the goals essential to the development of a broadminded attitude.

“ . . . Service-seeking . . . ”

Performance of tasks for the benefit and entertainment of others produces an inner satisfaction which cannot be derived from selfish acts. Student aid in the school offices, typing of stencils for the faculty, printing programs for school affiliated activities, the performance of the band at half-time, preparation of a delicious dinner for the representatives on the occasions of Career Conferences and College Night, and the support of a war orphan are a few of the ways in which the Fairview student serves his fellow-men.

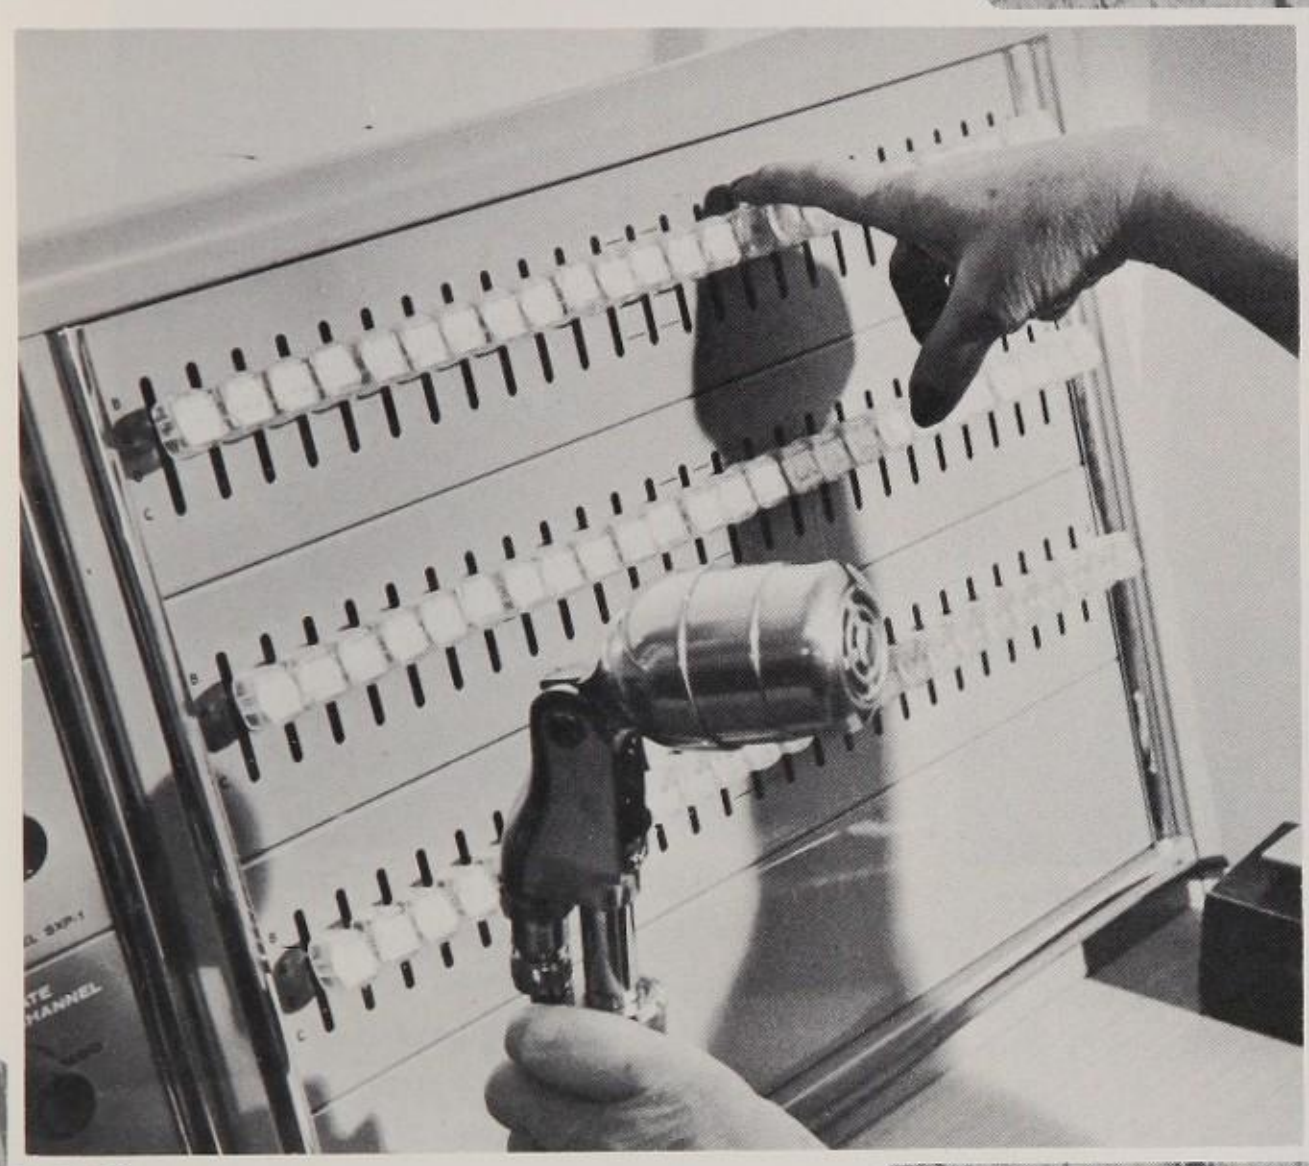
" . . . Adult Life."

The Fairview High School building and Bruiser, our mascot, remind us continually of Fairview's ambitions and accomplishments.

This building is a great deal more than bricks and mortar; it is the foundation and the framework of our character; it is the house of the administration and faculty which have lead us skillfully and inspired us to achievement; it is the institution of opportunities for the development of maturity.

Bruiser symbolizes the spirit, the enthusiasm, and the diligence with which we have striven to take advantage of the countless opportunities available to us to become responsible citizens in the American society.

Through the experiences in the classroom and extracurriculur activities we have been refining the qualities within our character. Now, we must continue to enlarge upon the framework as each opportunity becomes available to us, so that we may truly approach the ideal of "...Healthful, Broadminded, Service-seeking Adult Life."



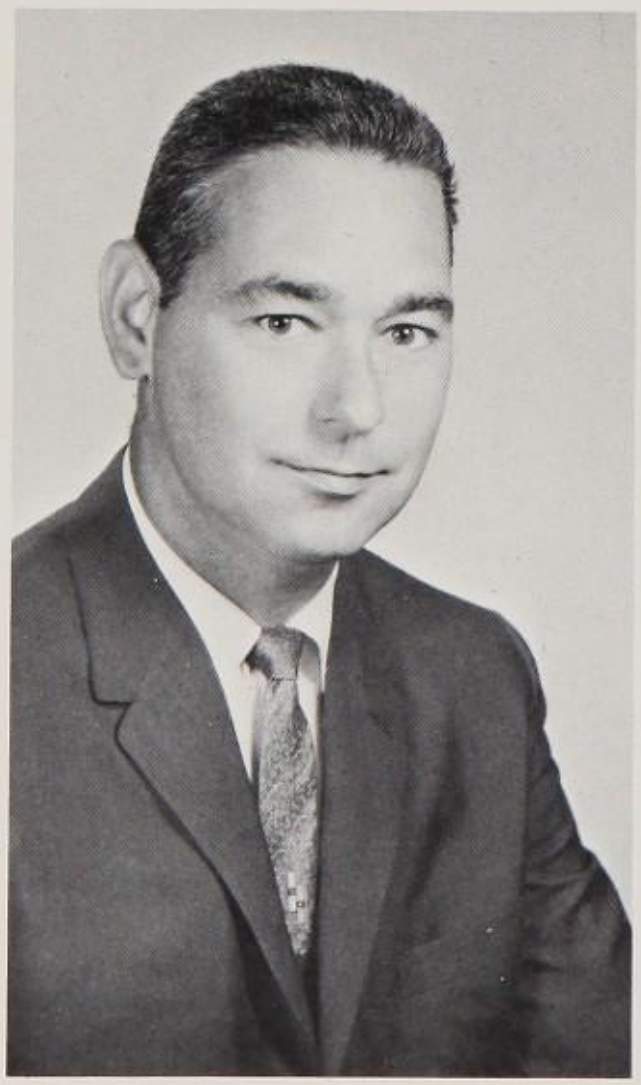
ADMINISTRATION

Educational Advancement — the Goal of the Administration

Giving whole-heartedly and unselfishly of their time and energy, Miss Folger and Mr. Feuer more than fulfill the requirements of their positions. They combine the highly practical ability as administrators with a genuine interest in the student body. The administrators prepare the Fairview student for the furthering of his education whether it be in one of the nation's colleges or in the business world.

Miss Folger actively participates in the social life of Fairview.

MISS THERESA FOLGER
Principal



Mr. Feuer is always willing to aid the student in the planning of his schedule.

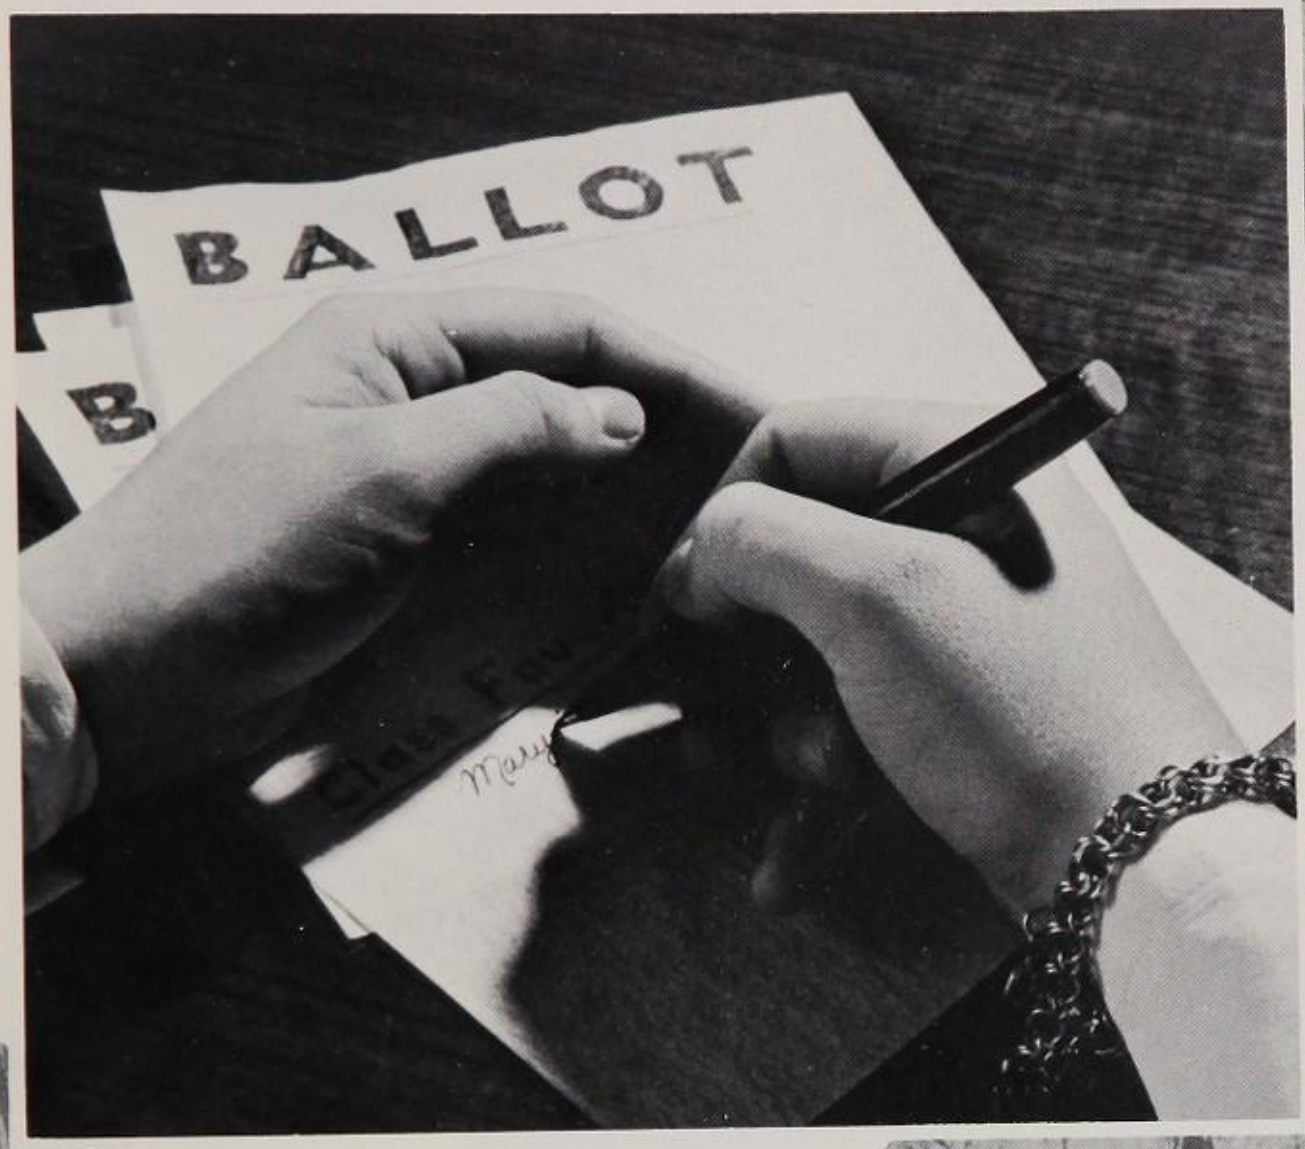
Graduation Marks Beginnings

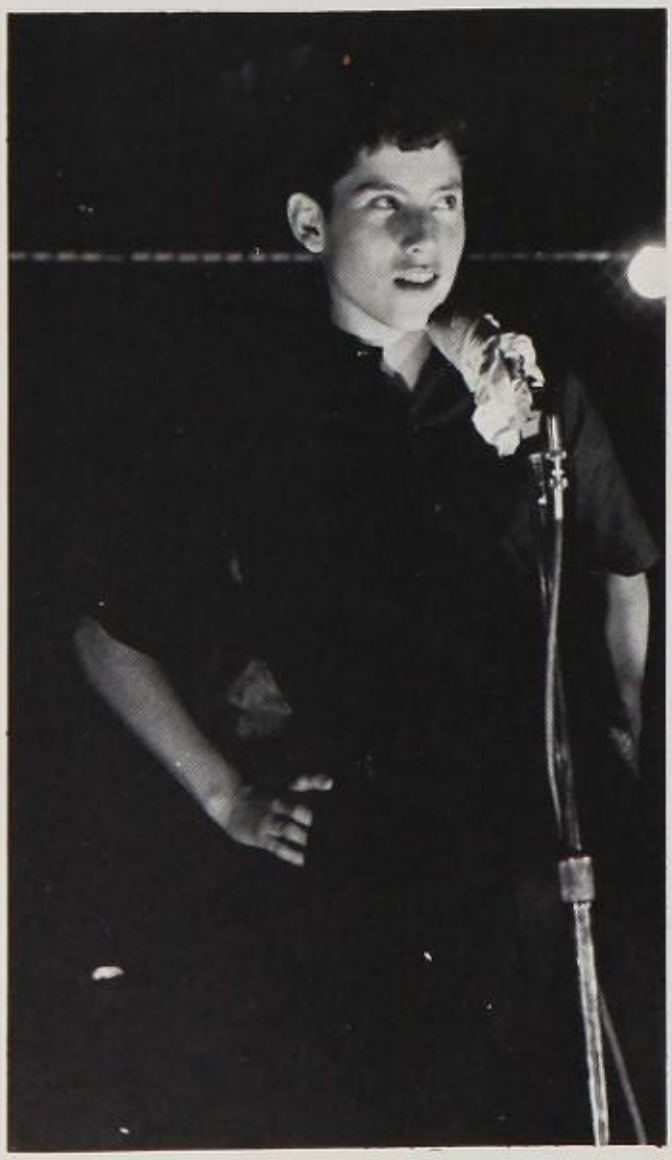
Commencement denotes a spirit of achievement and of new heights to conquer. The Class of 1966 has left an indelible mark on the pages of Fairview's history. There have been many obstacles along these corridors of learning, but the class has triumphed over them. In future years the class shall be confronted with numerous new problems, but the class shall overcome these impediments to further growth also. The Class of 1966 now leaves these halls which have been the center of the life of its members for four years, to the underclassmen, so that they may secure a firm foundation for life, even as the Class of 1966 has established its foundation.



ACTIVITIES

Fairview Students Welcome Luis

Mouse Skolnik, Mrs. Kitzes, Miss Folger, and Bob Abuza greet Luis.

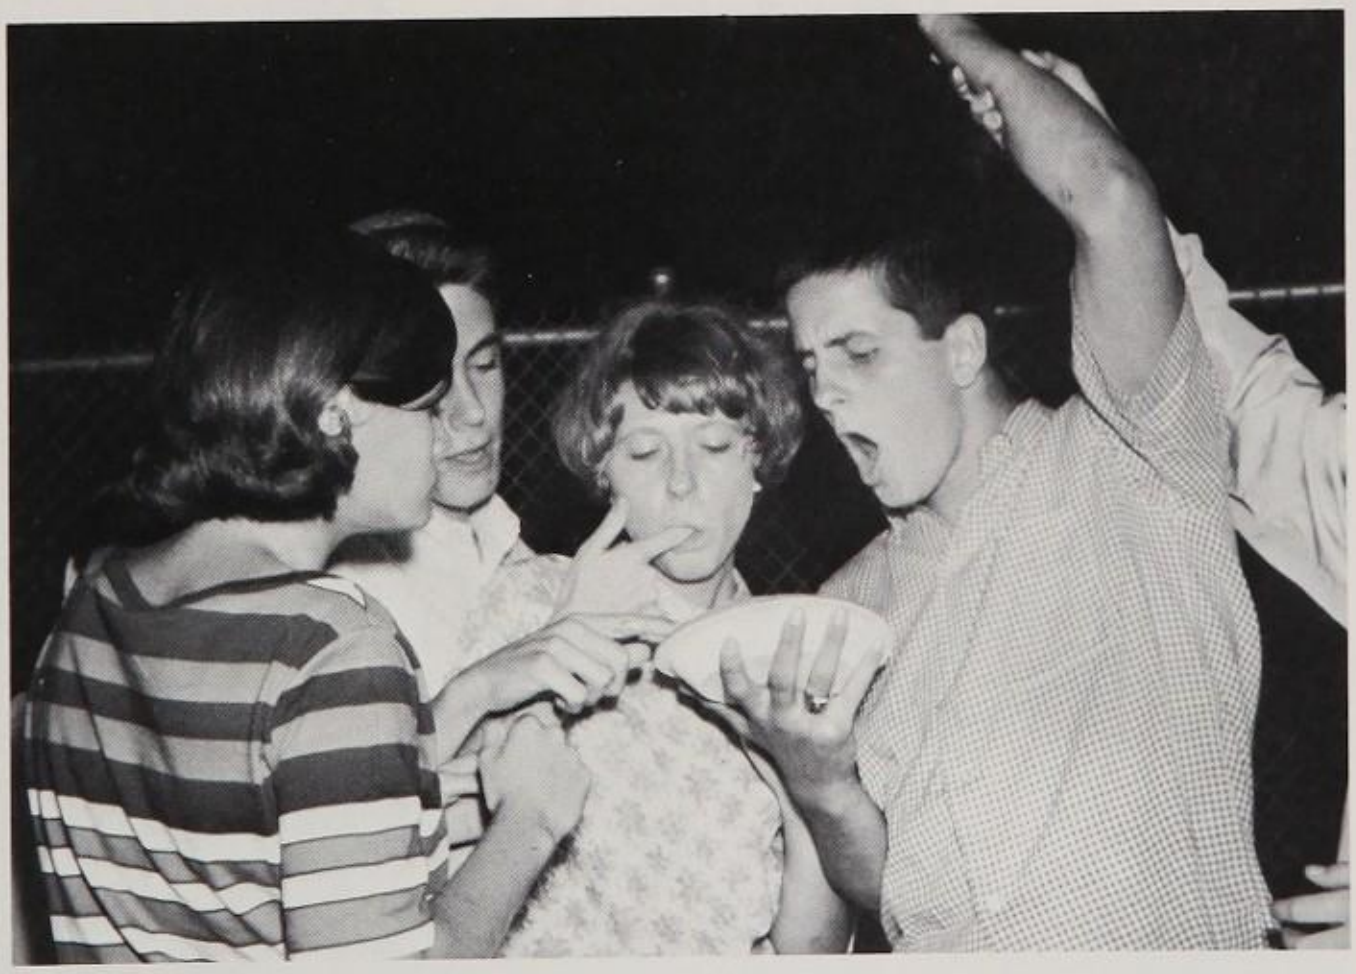


Luis, from Santiago, Chile, entertains with a song.

Luis always has a ready smile for his American parents, the Skolniks.

Fairview students try their luck at drop the clothespin in the bucket.

Dave Opper demonstrates his versatility in sponge throwing contest.



Winner L. Grossnickle shares rewards of pie-eating contest with fellow competitors D. Glaze, D. Hardesty, and G. Gillenwater.

Harvest Time—1965 Homecoming Dance—Highlights Football Season

The royal couple smile radiantly as they approach the throne.

Friendly conversation offers a needed rest for tired feet.

The royal couple enjoy queen's traditional dance.

Couples take a break between dances.

Good music and good company add to a festive evening.

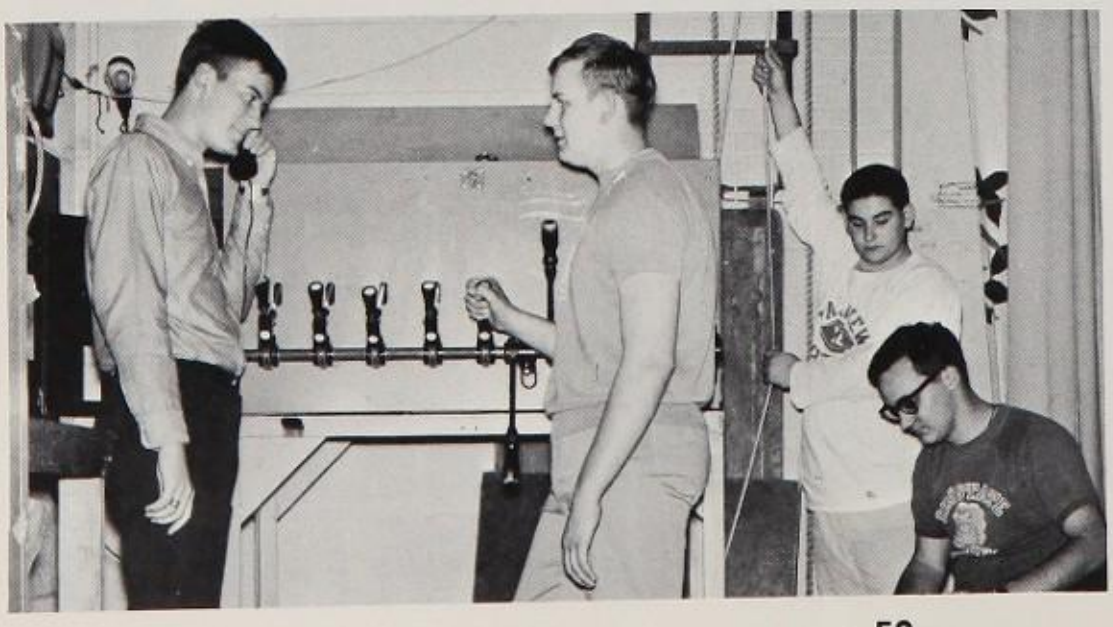
The 1965 football season was high-lighted by the Homecoming game and dance. Jeri Jones reigned over the festivities which were sponsored by Al Sora, Servamus, and Key Club.

Hours of Careful Preparation Are

Mr. Rosensweet discussed production problems with student director, Glenda Gillenwater.

Side splitting laughter filled the auditorium as the Senior Class presented Dear Ruth. An evening of fun was assured as the problems of the Wilkins family began to unfold. Miriam's letters to service men using Ruth's name and pictures seemed harmless enough until Lt. Bill Seawright arrived in New York anxious to meet his pen pal. Ruth's family and fiance, Albert Kummer, found the situation extremely uncomfortable, but the audience found it entertaining indeed.

Make-up artists used professional techniques to transform cast members.



Expert handling of lighting and sound systems created the perfect atmosphere for Dear Ruth.

Rewarded in Successful Production

A love triangle, caused by the pranks of sister Miriam, provided problems for "Dear Ruth" Wilkins and her family.

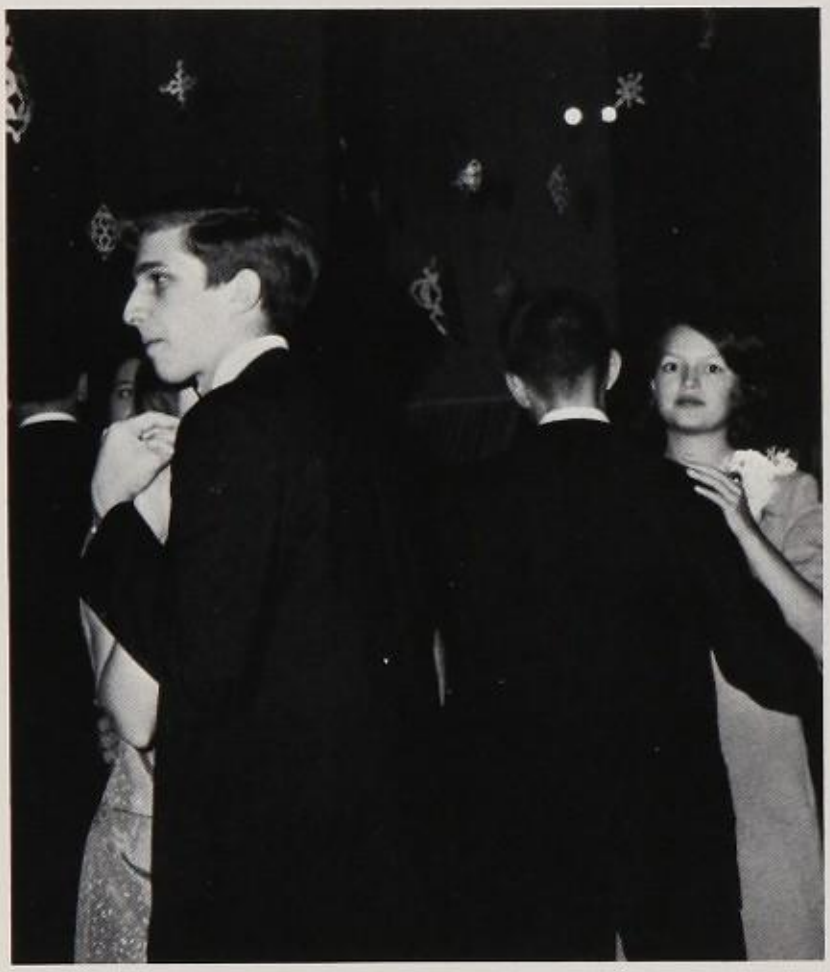
Even a sophisticated man like Albert became distraught after geing pushed from the subway.

Sgt. Chuck Vincent and Martha Seawright are re-united in all the confusion and married by Judge Wilkins.

Mr. Rosensweet and Glenda Gillenwater join cast members Susan Chudde, Barry Todd, Jan Eckert, Jon Katz, Janice Baron, Bruce McKinney, Ginny Dilts, Charlie Berry, Sandie Sturdivant and Don Kitain in a final curtain call.

"December Fantasy" Theme for Annual Christmas Turnabout

Student Council and Campus Club transformed the gym into a winter wonderland of snowflakes for the dance. The Note-Ables entertained the holiday crowd as students and recent graduates enjoyed an evening of good music and pleasant conversation.



Couples "could have danced all night" amid the shimmering snowflakes.

The saying that "a teen-aged girl's primping is never done" was re-affirmed at the dance.

The Note-Ables enlivened the occasion with lively tunes from the Music Shop.

Fairview Celebrates Valentine Season With "The Sweetheart Tree"

Candy Goldflies reigned over the annual sweetheart dance sponsored by Ac-Re-Chron and Musketeers. The Kingsmen delighted the dancing crowd with popular songs.

Vicki Hathaway and Andy Allen arrived for an evening of dancing.

Queen Candy smiled radiantly at the thrill of her coronation.

Fairview Follies Presents a

Hiney's Five - the best German band in Dayton - entertained the crowd with its unusual musical arrangements.

The Fairview Follies afforded talented students a chance to demonstrate their varied abilities. Students who could sing, dance, play an instrument, or devise an amusing skit were able to present their accomplishments before an attentive audience.

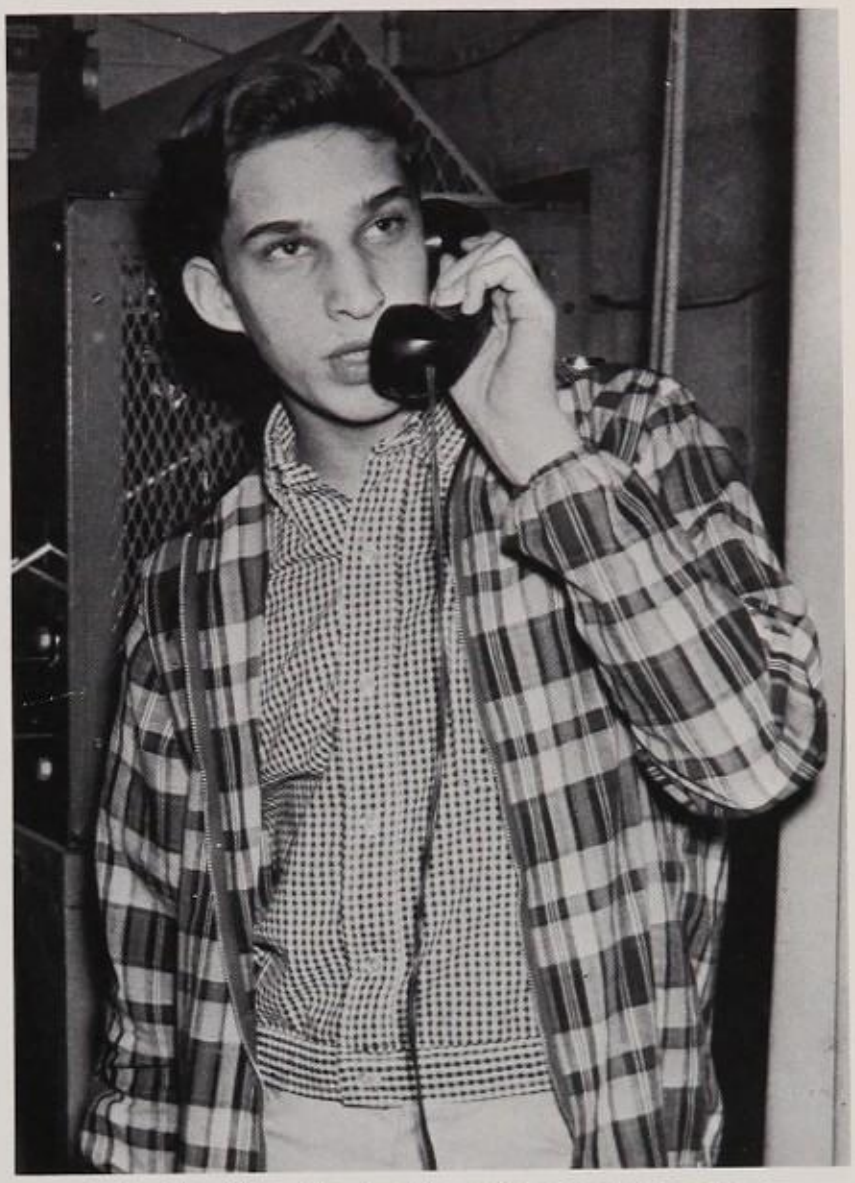
Jon Katz - master of ceremonies - introduced the acts and related humorous anecdotes.

Mr. Rosensweet, follies director, appeared solemn as he cautioned the cast on last minute problems.

Patsy Overly's musical talent enabled her to share first prize with the drum ensemble.

Variety of Student Talents

Karen Rodberg became one of Fairview's favorite songstresses as she performed.



John Ittelson (and other stage crew members) worked until the last moment to prepare the stage for the show.

"I'm Five, I'm Five" sang Roberta Bacon and Patti Wells as they showed the audience the joys and problems of a five year old.

May Day Honors Fairview Women

The May Day Pageant has been a tradition at Fairview for many years. The specialty dance, the maypole dance, and the crowning of the queen hold a special place in the hearts of Fairview students.

The tradition of May Day is kept alive by the court and dancers.

Karen Bernt, 1964 Queen, returns to crown Cris Dabbelt.

Senior Helen Smith presents roses to Mrs. Burdette Thomson, Honorary May Queen.

The queen is the symbol of the beauty and grace of May Day.

Joe Egan, Sen. Att.; Ann Stafford, Sen. Att.; Jennifer Gadd, Crown Bearer; Cris Dabbelt, Queen; Linda Cremeens, Jr. Att.; Scott Kelso, Jr. Att.

The traditional Maypole Dance adds to the beauty of the day.

The prom committee and their dates enjoy a gala evening after weeks of hard work.

Juniors Bid Seniors Farewell With 1965 Prom, "Remember When."

Under the direction of Andy Allen and Mike Bowers, the Junior Class presented "Remember When", the 1965 Junior-Senior Prom. An old-fashioned ice cream parlor and an antique car added to the atmosphere of the Gay Nineties.

Couples dance to the music of Karl Taylor's band.

Versatile juniors turned into carpenters, designers, and artists overnight as the work reached the final hours.

Mike Bowers put finishing touches on tree at doorway.

Old-fashion hats served as favors, and added to the atmosphere of the 1890's.

Hundreds of balloons were used for table decorations.

It's a Small World — Foreign Bazaar

The internationally famous Grace Wolfe Troupe entertained with the Treffner tanz, a German folk dance.

Contestants watched expectantly as wheel of fortune spinned.

Spanish Club Pavilion featured singers Clyde Mellert and Pam McLeran.

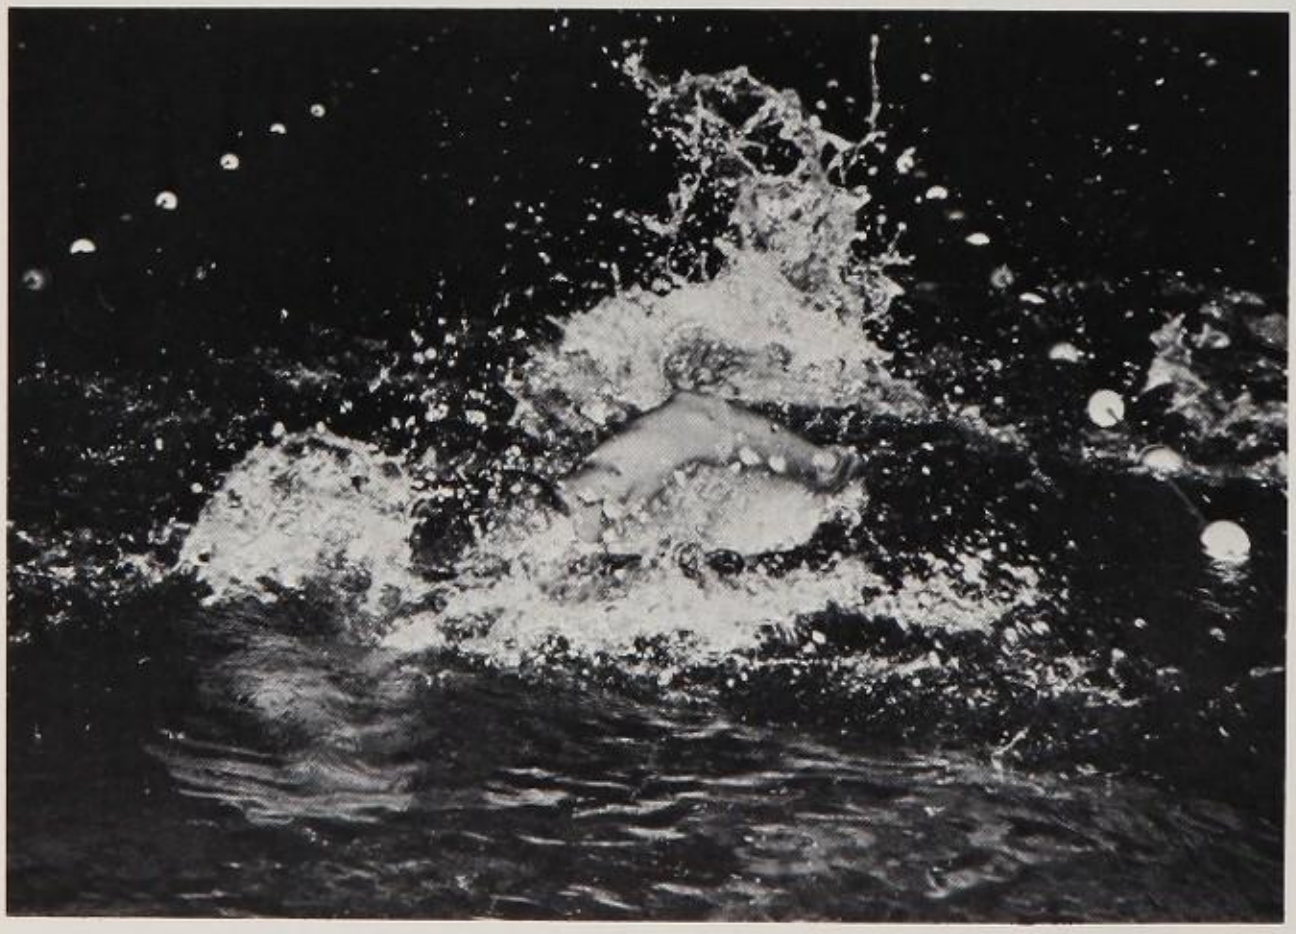
Swimmer Captures State Honors

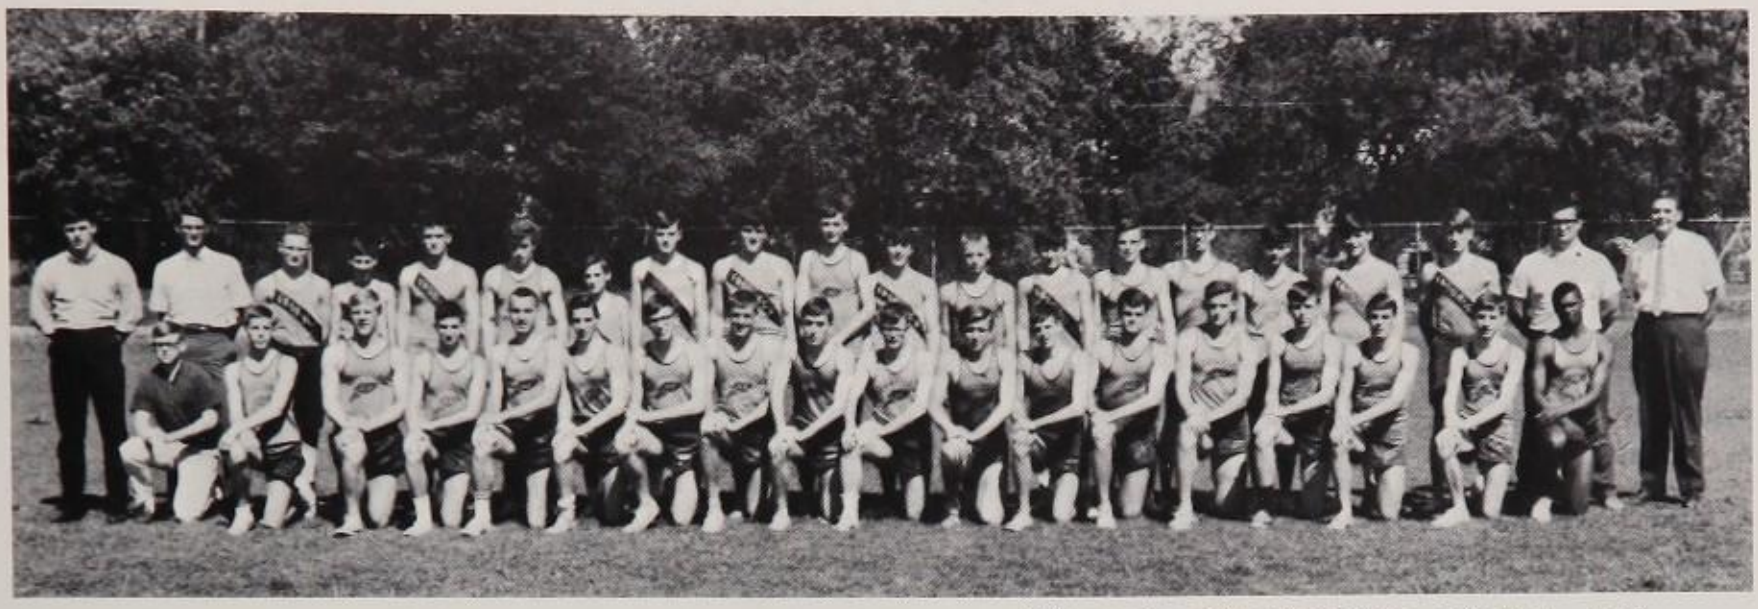
Fairview's one-man swimming team, Leo French, has placed first in the district meet for three consecutive years. In state-wide competition, swimming in the 400 yd. and 200 yd. freestyle, he has attained the following record: 1963, fifth, fifth; 1964, third, fifth; 1965, fourth, fourth.



With powerful strokes, Leo swims to victory.

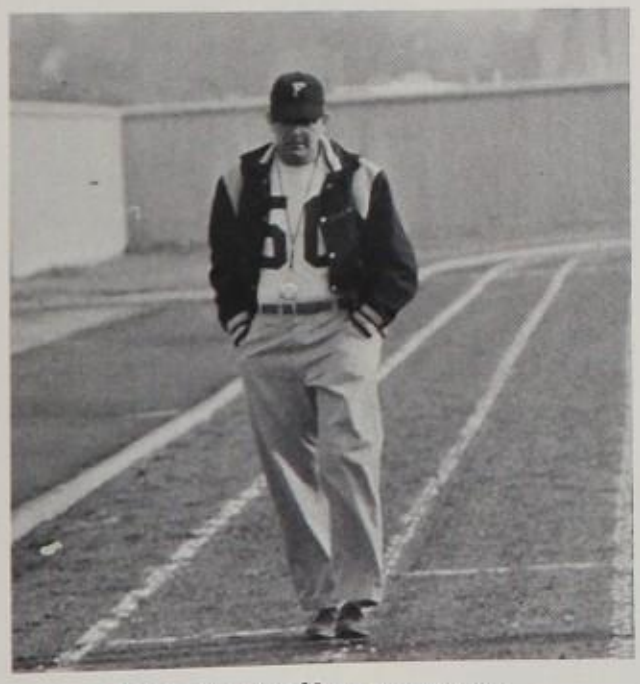
Leo admires trophy earned by fellow Fairview athletes.

Track Team Achieves Another Profitable Season



Through self-discipline, timing, and rigorous training the track team brought honor to Fairview. Because track is largely an individual sport, the athlete cannot depend upon the other team members to cover his errors.

Relays and hurdles require agility and speed as bulldogs race onward to victory.



Coach Bradley concentrates on the next meet as he leaves the track.

P. J. Shank springs high into the air to clear the bar.

Gym Leaders Guide Students in Athletic Pursuits

Fairview's gym leaders direct their interest in athletics toward the service of others. They provide encouragement and aid to the students who are attempting to develop athletic skills, and help gym teachers by taking charge of records and attendance.

International Understanding — the Goal of Language Clubs

Language clubs provide the Fairview student with an outstanding opportunity to gain proficiency in a foreign language. This year participation in the Foreign Bazaar was added to the usual programs of films, panel discussions and guest speakers. These programs acquainted Fairviewites with the culture and customs of the country which they were studying.

Measuring for caps and gowns really started "graduation fever."

Acknowledgements

In this 1966 Tower of Memories, we have seen our development in attaining a "...Healthful, Broadminded, Service-seeking Adult Life." As we leave high school behind us and travel on our individual paths of achievement, may this book recall the four years of learning, friendship, and group activity which we have shared at Fairview.

We would like to give thanks to the people who have helped make this book possible: Miss Folger and Mr. Feuer, administrative advisers; Mr. Hertzinger, representative from the Taylor Publishing Company; and Mr. Hoover, business and financial manager. Thanks to our photographers: Logan Studio for senior pictures and all group and activity shots taken this year; and Friedman-Easterling Studio for the following pictures: Honor Society, spring sports, May Day, and the Junior Prom. And finally, we give special thanks to Miss Calico for the guidance, knowledge, and hard work which she gave to the preparation of this, the Tower of Memories, 1966.
